

Sue Beck

Music has been part of Sue Beck's life since before birth...she grew up listening to classical music and singing a cappella. Then in 1972 a friend convinced her to go to a membership night with the local chorus and she was so taken aback by what she heard and saw, she never quit going. Since then, she has sung with Lakeside Chorus, and founded Pacific Sound and Voices Northwest, where she was its first director. Sue has sung in three regional championship quartets: Seattle Times, Legacy, and SoundDesign. She has served at all levels of SAI administration/management and is currently a Certified Showmanship judge for the organization. Sue coaches and teaches around the world and is delighted to be here at HCNW!
